

◀ ENTERING THE PARK

This aerial image taken over the park's entrance shows the Warden's House (bottom right) and steps leading to the Hypostyle Hall and the terrace above.

△ HALL OF COLUMNS

The Hypostyle Hall was designed to be a market area. Its roof is supported by 86 columns and adorned with a tile-shard mosaic made by Gaudí's assistant.

A giant mosaic-covered salamander called El drac greets visitors to the park

▷ MOSAICS AND ORGANIC SHAPES

Colorful mosaics decorate the organic forms and mushroom-shaped pinnacle on the roof of the Warden's House at the park's entrance. The mosaics combine tile-shard decoration with geometric patterns.

