This view of the immense limestone statue of the deified Ramesses II outside the main temple shows his finely carved features and distinctive headdress.

▷ TEMPLE GUARDIANS

Four magnificent rock-hewn statues of Ramesses II, depicting the pharaoh in different guises, guard the doorway to his temple at Abu Simbel. Although three-dimensional, they were designed to be viewed head-on.

△ INSIDE THE TEMPLE

The hypostyle hall inside Ramesses II's temple features eight carved pillars of the deified pharaoh as Osiris, god of the underworld.
