

▽ AN AUSTRALIAN ICON

The unique silhouette of Sydney Opera House's sail-shaped arches is instantly recognizable and has become a symbol of modern Australian culture.

The roof is made of 2,194 precast concrete sections held together by 218 miles (350 km) of steel cable

