

April

24

1888

Kodak moment

US inventor George Eastman started the Eastman Kodak Company, which mass-produced portable box cameras that could be used easily by anyone.

Also on this day

1184 BCE The legendary Trojan War ended on this day with the fall of the city of Troy to the Greeks, according to ancient historians.

1990 Gruinard Island, Scotland, was declared safe after being out-of-bounds for 48 years. The uninhabited island had been a testing site for biological weapons during World War II.

2020 In Egypt, archaeologists announced they had discovered the 3,500-year-old mummy of an unknown teenage girl.

2018 Streaming music

For the first time in music history, the money made from listeners paying to stream music on services such as Spotify and Apple Music was greater than that from the sales of music CDs.

1918 Tank combat

Three German A7V tanks faced off against three British Mark IV tanks at the Battle of Villers-Bretonneux in France, during World War I. It was the first time in military history that tanks had fought against each other.

Born this day

1982 Kelly Clarkson, US singer. She won a record deal on the first season of the TV series American Idol, and went on to have several hit singles and albums.

