

September

20

2014

HeForShe

British actor and UN Women Goodwill Ambassador Emma Watson delivered an inspiring speech to give a public face to the HeForShe campaign, which encourages men and boys to join the fight for gender equality for women.

1973

King vs Riggs

In a famous tennis match, top women's singles player Billie Jean King beat Bobby Riggs, a former No. 1 men's singles player, who had claimed he could defeat any female player.

Born this day

1934 Sophia Loren, Italian actor. She starred in many Italian and Hollywood films, and was the first to win an Oscar for Best Actress for a non-English film.

Also on this day

1857 The army of the East India Company recaptured Delhi, suppressing the Indian Rebellion, the first major uprising against British colonial rule.

2001 Following the 9/11 terrorist attacks in the USA, President George W Bush announced a "War on Terror".

2019 Ahead of a UN summit on climate change, about 4 million people – led by schoolchildren – took part in a global climate strike.

2019

Polar expedition

The German ship Polarstern set sail from Norway with a team of researchers from 20 countries for the MOSAiC expedition. The goal was to stay trapped in the polar ice and drift across the Arctic Ocean for a year to study the impact of climate change.

