

October

5

2006

Prehistoric hunter

Researchers announced the discovery of the first-ever complete skeleton of a fossilized plesiosaur, an ancient short-necked marine reptile. They had found the remains of this 10 m (33 ft) long predator on Norway's Svalbard Islands in the Arctic Ocean.

Born this day

1975 Kate Winslet, British actor. In a TV and film career that has spanned more than two decades, she has won an Oscar, an Emmy, three BAFTAs, and four Golden Globes.

1789 March on Versailles

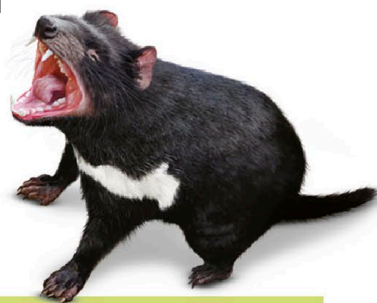

Angered by how expensive and rare bread had become, the women in the markets of Paris, France, marched to the Palace of Versailles in protest. It became one of the most important events of the French Revolution.

Tasmanian devil

A news article announced that 26 Tasmanian devils had been successfully reintroduced into the wild on mainland Australia. For nearly 3,000 years, the species had only been found on the island of Tasmania.

2020

Also on this day

1910 The Portuguese Republican Party seized power, overthrowing the country's monarchy and forming the First Portuguese Republic.

1962 British rock band The Beatles released their first single Love Me Do in the UK. It debuted at number 17 on the UK music charts.

1962 Dr No, the first movie in the James Bond film series, was released. Scottish actor Sean Connery starred as the famous spy.