1944 Ranulph Fiennes, British explorer. He was the first to cross Antarctica on foot and also climbed Mount Everest.

Rhineland occupation

1936

Without warning, German military forces marched into the Rhineland, reoccupying this strip of land on the border with France. This move broke the agreements of both the Locarno Treaty and the Treaty of Versailles, and increased tensions between European countries in the years before World War II.
