

SHINY FEATHERS

The preserved pigments in the Microraptor's fossilized feathers reveal it had iridescent black coloring similar to that of modern-day starlings. Such flashy feathers might have played a role in display, as they do in modern bird species.

