

FOSSIL WALL

What appears here to be a wall of bones is really a tilted bed of sandstone rock containing the scattered fossils of the dinosaurs Allosaurus, Apatosaurus, Camarasaurus, Diplodocus, and Stegosaurus. It is located in the Dinosaur National Monument in Utah, where paleontologists have found a jumble of dinosaur fossils. These dinosaurs all died near an ancient river, and their bones were mixed up and deposited onto a sandbar.
