

Flawlessly preserved

Scientists think that upon its death this Borealopelta may have been washed out to the ocean, where it sank to the floor and lay back-down in the soft mud for millions of years. This position probably helped preserve the features of its armor in great detail.

The keratin covering that surrounded Borealopelta's bony spines was also preserved.

Lower jaw

AT A GLANCE

- YEAR OF DISCOVERY 2011
- PLACE Alberta, Canada
- FOUND BY Shawn Funk
- LIVED 110 MYA

