

Getting a better look

In order to not destroy the fossil, researchers used powerful scanners to peer into the amber. This allowed them to digitally reconstruct the animal and observe it in all its detail without breaking the amber apart.

The foot was adapted for perching.