

LARGEST LAND ARTHROPOD

CREEPING ALONG

The patter of Arthropleura's many limbs would not have gone unnoticed as it scuttled around in the forest undergrowth. Arthropleura's footprints formed large tracks up to 19½ in (50 cm) wide. These fossilized tracks gave paleontologists an idea of this arthropod's vast size.