

As Perseus flew home, he saw a princess, Andromeda, chained to a rock, about to be eaten by a sea monster. Her parents had angered Poseidon, who had sent the monster to destroy their kingdom unless their daughter was sacrificed.

Story in the stars

Some star patterns have been named after the characters in Perseus's story. These include Perseus, Andromeda [an-DROM-ih-duh], her parents and the sea monster.

