

Invertebrates

Bugs are invertebrates—animals that don't have backbones.

Of all the animals on planet Earth, 97 percent of them are invertebrates—and there are more than a million different types!

All animals without backbones are invertebrates, but not all invertebrates are bugs.