MILK WITHOUT

This rare yellow tea comes from Dongting Lake in Hunan province. It is a delicate tea so this recipe is light on flavoring. The few drops of elderflower cordial make an impression, but allow the sweet flavor of the tea to come through.

3 tbsp Jun Shan Yin Zhen tea leaves

1 quart water heated to
175°F (80°C)

10 drops elderflower cordial

1 Place the tea leaves in a teapot and add the hot water. Leave to steep for 2 minutes.

2 Just before straining the infusion, add the elderflower cordial. Set aside a few tea leaves to garnish.

SERVE IT UP Strain into cups or mugs, and serve garnished with the reserved tea leaves.

SUMMER PALACE SERVES 2

Huo Shan Huang Ya is a light and graceful tea that has a slightly toasty edge. Put it on ice and it becomes a light and clean thirst quencher, with an apple-like sweetness that comes from the star fruit. This delicate drink is grassy and fruity.

1 star fruit, sliced, plus 2 thin slices,
to garnish

½ cup boiling water, plus
1¾ cups water heated to
175°F (80°C)

1 tbsp Huo Shan Huang Ya
tea leaves

2 tsp honey

ice cubes

1 Place the star fruit in a teapot. Add the boiling water and steep for 1 minute.

2 Add the tea leaves and the heated water to the teapot and steep for an additional 2 minutes.

3 Strain the infusion into 2 tumblers and stir in the honey. Leave to cool. Add the ice cubes and stir.

SERVE IT UP Serve garnished with a slice of star fruit.
