Elderflowers bloom at the beginning of summer, while elderberries signal summer's end, so only a dry version of each will work here. The crystalline garnet color of the berries offers an elegant iced tea for warm fall days.

1 tbsp dried elderflowers
 1¼ tsp dried elderberries
 2 cups boiling water
 1 tsp honey
ice cubes

1 Place the elderflowers and elderberries in a teapot. Add the boiling water and infuse for 5 minutes.

2 Strain into a glass pitcher, stir in the honey, and allow to cool. Set aside a few of the infused elderflowers for garnishing.

SERVE IT UP Pour into 2 tumblers, add the ice cubes, and stir. Garnish each with the reserved elderflowers.

RED CLOVER, RED CLOVER! SERVES 2

TEMP 210°F (100°C)

INFUSE 5 MINS

TYPE ICED

MILK WITHOUT

Chamomile has a concentrated sweetness and a dominant aroma. Only a small amount is used here to avoid overpowering the flavor of the clover blossoms. Both are calming herbs, and apple has anti-inflammatory benefits.

1 tbsp dried chamomile flowers
 3 tbsp dried red clover blossoms,
 broken apart slightly
 1 large apple, finely diced, plus
 4 thin slices, to garnish
 2 cups boiling water
ice cubes

1 Place the chamomile and red clover blossoms with the apple in a teapot. Add the boiling water and leave to steep for 5 minutes.

2 Strain the infusion into a glass pitcher and allow to cool.

SERVE IT UP Pour into 2 tumblers, add the ice cubes, and stir. Serve garnished with the apple slices.
