

How the course works

English for Everyone is designed for people who want to teach themselves the English language. Like all language courses, it covers the core skills: grammar, vocabulary, pronunciation, listening, speaking, reading, and writing. Unlike in other courses, the skills are taught and practiced as visually as possible, using images and graphics to help you understand and remember. The best way to learn is to work through the book in order, making full use of the audio available on the website and app. Turn to the practice book at the end of each unit to reinforce your learning with additional exercises.

PRACTICE BOOK

COURSE BOOK

Unit number The book is divided into units. The unit number helps you keep track of your progress.

Learning points Every unit begins with a summary of the key learning points.

Modules Each unit is broken down into modules, which should be done in order. You can take a break from learning after completing any module.

Language learning
Modules with colored backgrounds teach new vocabulary and grammar. Study these carefully before moving on to the exercises.

32 Conditional tenses

You can use the third conditional to describe an unreal past, or events that did not happen. This is useful for talking about regrets you have about the past.

32.1 KEY LANGUAGE THE THIRD CONDITIONAL

SECOND CONDITIONAL

The second conditional is used to describe unreal situations in the present.

If I lived in New York, I would go running in Central Park.

THIRD CONDITIONAL

Use the third conditional to describe unreal situations in the past.

If we had left earlier, we would have caught the train.

32.2 HOW TO FORM THE THIRD CONDITIONAL

If we had left earlier, we would have caught the train.

The "if" clause is the unreal past condition. Using different modals varies the certainty of the imagined result. The conditional clause is the unreal result.

32.3 ANOTHER WAY TO SAY THE THIRD CONDITIONAL

If you'd been wearing a coat, you would have stayed warm. We would've caught the train if we'd left on time.

The past perfect continuous can also follow "if" in the third conditional. Often "have" is contracted when spoken. Sentences in the third conditional can be reordered without a comma so the "if" clause is second.

32.4 FILL IN THE GAPS BY PUTTING THE VERBS IN THE CORRECT TENSES TO MAKE SENTENCES IN THE THIRD CONDITIONAL

If he had asked (ask) me to marry him, I would have said (would / say) yes.

1 If I chose (choose) the trip, we would go (would / go) to Spain.

2 If we arrive (arrive) earlier, we would not miss (would / not miss) the show.

3 I could (could / help) them if they call (call) me earlier.

4 If we stop (stop) eating earlier, we might not feel (might / not feel) so sick.

5 She would pass (would / pass) her exam if she work (work) a bit harder.

6 If you shut (shut) the door, we might not be (might / not be) so cold.

32.5 KEY LANGUAGE FORMAL INVERSION

You can make the third conditional more formal by inverting the subject and "had," and dropping "if."

If you had attended the meeting, you would have met the manager.

Had you attended the meeting, you would have met the manager.

This is used more in formal and academic written English.

32.6 LISTEN TO THE AUDIO AND MARK THE THINGS THAT ACTUALLY HAPPENED

Audio support Most modules have supporting audio recordings of native English speakers to help you improve your speaking and listening skills.

Exercises Modules with white backgrounds contain exercises that help you practice your new skills to reinforce learning.
