

Language modules

New language points are taught in carefully graded stages, starting with a simple explanation of when they are used, then offering further examples of common usage, and a detailed breakdown of how key constructions are formed.

Module number Every module is identified with a unique number, so you can track your progress and easily locate any related audio.

Module heading The teaching topic appears here, along with a brief introduction.

15.1 KEY LANGUAGE TWO COMPARATIVES TOGETHER

You can make comparisons that show cause and effect by using two comparatives in one sentence.

The harder I train, the stronger I get.

Implies that training causes you to get stronger.

Sample language New language points are introduced in context. Colored highlights make new constructions easy to spot, and annotations explain them.

15.2 FURTHER EXAMPLES TWO COMPARATIVES TOGETHER

The worse the children behave, the angrier the teacher gets.

The louder the cat meows, the louder the dog barks.

Graphic guide Clear, simple visuals help to explain the meaning of new language forms and when to use them, and also act as an aid to learning and recall.

Supporting audio This symbol indicates that the model sentences featured in the module are available as audio recordings.

15.3 HOW TO FORM TWO COMPARATIVES TOGETHER

Formation guide Visual guides break down English grammar into its simplest parts, showing you how to recreate even complex formations.

Vocabulary Throughout the book, vocabulary modules list the most useful English words and phrases, with visual cues to help you remember them.

Write-on lines You are encouraged to write your own translations of English words to create your own reference pages.

6.1 TRAVEL AND TOURISM
We need a vacation to get away from it all . (to get away from it all)	When we go to Paris, we will have time to go sightseeing . (to see interesting buildings and places as a tourist)	We're going to look around the flower district this morning. (to look around)	Every time I drive into the city I get hopelessly lost . (to get lost)
We want a once-in-a-lifetime trip to New Zealand once in a lifetime. (to go on a trip that you will never repeat)	I always feel homesick when I travel abroad. (to feel sad because you miss your home and family)	We stopped off at a couple of museums along the way. (to stop a journey to see places before continuing)	You will get your boarding passes when you check in . (to register your arrival at an airport or hotel)
I've never been anywhere like it. It was such a culture shock . (feeling of confusion or distress when visiting a different place or culture)	They lived in a house off the beaten track in the country. (a place that is not a main road, path, or track)	We have to check out of the hotel before 1pm. (to check out of a hotel or other place before leaving)	We're going to check out the zoo tomorrow. (to check out something or check something out)
The hotels in this area all look a little bit run-down . (to look old or worn)	There are so many birds in this unspoiled countryside . (a place that has not been changed or altered)	The first leg of the journey is a long flight to Singapore. (a stage in a journey from one place to another)	It's only a weekend getaway , so we won't need much luggage. (a short holiday, particularly a short one)
I'll never settle down. I get itchy feet every few years. (to want to travel or move)	My son's thirst for adventure worries me sometimes. (a strong desire for exciting experiences)	I'm really looking forward to seeing the pyramids. (to look forward to something that you are going to do)	My parents came to the airport to see me off . (to see somebody leave somebody off)