

42 Giving advice

If someone has a problem, one of the ways that you can give advice is by using the modal verb "should."

⚙️ New language "Should"

Aa Vocabulary Advice

🧩 New skill Giving advice

42.1 KEY LANGUAGE "SHOULD" TO GIVE ADVICE

"Should" shows that you think this is the best thing to do.

It's very sunny. You should wear a hat.

"Should" comes before the advice.

42.2 FURTHER EXAMPLES "SHOULD" TO GIVE ADVICE

It might rain. You should take your umbrella.

For a negative, add "not" between "should" and the main verb.

There's ice on the roads. You should not drive tonight.

"Should not" can be shortened to "shouldn't."

You're sick. You shouldn't go to work today.

42.3 HOW TO FORM "SHOULD" TO GIVE ADVICE

SUBJECT	"SHOULD"	MAIN VERB	REST OF SENTENCE
You	should	wear	a hat.

"Should" is a modal verb, so it stays the same no matter what the subject is.

"Should" is followed by the base form of the verb.