

I have an idea, how about we generate some electricity from the 'high-voltage dramas' we are reporting?

What is my frequency of travel? It is about 0.000000386Hz, or roughly once a month.

The engineers have become too careless these days, and everywhere I look, I see only bugs!

I have partially covered the screen because Mom asked me to watch less TV!

It says, 'Connect this end of the cable to Earth!'

Sir, is natural intelligence great because it gave rise to AI that can now replace it?
