

A bar built into a bus is a fascinating idea, but what I was actually looking for is an aluminium busbar.

We have developed two computers for better speed: one handles zeros, and the other handles ones.

You want me to connect this floating wire to Earth? But the Earth itself is floating!

Hey, it's nice meeting you online!

Sir, weren't you the one who told me to charge them with something?

Mom, I'm smarter than any computer—the computer only understands two numbers!