

Tower Semiconductor, citing weak local demand and funding misalignment. The move delivers a fresh setback to India's semiconductor ambitions after the Vedanta-Foxconn fallout. With India's limited chip demand, Adani sees the market as too immature, leaving the project in limbo pending future clarity.

Zoho freezes $700 million chip project, cites uncertainty

Zoho has halted its $700 million semiconductor project in Mysuru, citing technological uncertainty, funding concerns, and lack of a suitable partner. Co-founder Sridhar Vembu confirmed the pause, saying chip-making needs confidence and clarity. The move follows Adani's $10 billion project suspension, marking another setback for India's chip ambitions amid no operational fabs and limited domestic demand.

Apple's US focus creates a $14 billion windfall for Indian iPhone makers

Apple plans to ship most India-made iPhones to the US this quarter, eyeing a $12-14 billion export opportunity for Indian firms like Foxconn and Tata. Driven by US tariffs on China, this marks a strategic shift. If sustained, India's iPhone output could hit $40 billion by FY26, with 80% destined for the US, boosting local manufacturing.

Rafale-Marine fighter jets, including 22 single-seaters and four twin-seaters, for the Indian Navy. The deal, valued under India's Aatmanirbhar Bharat initiative, includes technology transfer, training, and indigenous weapons integration. Deliveries will be completed by 2030, enhancing India's naval combat and air power capabilities.

Samsung India appeals $500 million customs penalty at CESTAT

Samsung India has appealed a $500 million customs penalty over alleged misclassification of telecom gear imported for Reliance Jio. Authorities claim Samsung used lower-duty categories to reduce tariffs. The case, now before CESTAT Mumbai, could impact future import compliance. Samsung's network division earned ₹166 billion in FY24; the appeal's outcome may set a precedent for multinationals.

UK's BII to invest ₹8.7 billion in ReNew's solar manufacturing arm

British International Investment (BII) is investing ₹8.7 billion ($100 million) in ReNew Photovoltaics, gaining a 10% stake in its first direct bet on India's solar manufacturing. Funds will support a 4GW TOPCon cell plant in Gujarat, creating 2000 jobs. The move boosts ReNew's domestic capacity and aligns with UK-India clean energy goals. Deal closure awaits approvals.
