Why Has Cyient Semiconductors Been Spun Off?

SUMAN NARAYAN
CEO, CYIENT SEMICONDUCTORS

Why spin off a dedicated subsidiary, and how does it plan to stand out in a competitive global market? Suman Narayan of Cyient Semiconductors unveils the company's strategic vision during an insightful conversation with EFY's Nitisha...

Why was Cyient Semiconductors spun off as a dedicated subsidiary?

The semiconductor business operates with a markedly different profit and loss (P&L) structure compared to traditional services and requires significant upfront investment. To manage this effectively, we established a separate P&L ownership and go-to-market strategy; hence, the decision to spin it off into a dedicated subsidiary.

What is the main business focus of this new subsidiary of Cyient?

The main focus of the new subsidiary, Cyient Semiconductors, is on ASIC and ASSP—application-specific integrated circuits and application-specific standard products. We are concentrating on custom chips specifically developed for market needs.
