

63.8 KEY LANGUAGE SUBSTITUTING WITH "SO" AND "NOT"

In positive clauses after verbs of thinking, you can use "so" to avoid repetition. Use "not" or "not... so" in negative sentences.

Will she be signing copies of her book?

No, I don't think so.

I'm afraid not.

I hope so!

63.9 FURTHER EXAMPLES SUBSTITUTING NEGATIVES WITH "NOT... SO" AND "NOT"

Use "not... so" with "think," "believe," "expect," and "imagine."

It appears not.

I don't imagine so.

It doesn't seem so.

I hope not.

Use either "not" or "not... so" with "appear," "seem," and "suppose."

Use "not" with "hope," "assume," and "be afraid" (when "afraid" means "sorry").

63.10 RESPOND TO THE AUDIO, SPEAKING OUT LOUD USING SUBSTITUTION

Do you go to bookstores often?

[suppose] Yes, I suppose so.

2

Who wrote your favorite novel?

[did] _____

1

Do you think all books will be digital soon?

[hope] _____

3

Would you like to write a book?

[think] _____

63 CHECKLIST

⚙ Substitution ☐

Aa Books and reading ☐

🧩 Replacing phrases ☐