

67 Media and celebrity

67.1 USEFUL EXPRESSIONS

I think the newspaper has sensationalized this story.

to sensationalize

[to make something more dramatic or exciting than it is]

The politician's lies were exposed in the interview.

to expose

[to reveal something hidden]

Politicians can easily be exploited by the media.

to exploit

[to use something or someone for your own gain]

You don't always need to be talented to become a celebrity.

to become a celebrity

[to become a famous person]

This chef has been a household name for years.

a household name

[someone who is known by most people]

John would really love to have his name in lights.

to have your name in lights

[to be very famous]

The success of her latest movie has gone to her head.

to go to somebody's head

[to make somebody feel more important than they are]

Lucinda is used to being in the public eye.

in the public eye

[seen and well known by the public]

This morning's newspaper headline is shocking!

a newspaper headline

[the large text at the top of a newspaper page]

This singer's wedding was headline news last week.

headline news

[news that is widely reported]

